

Hi there!

I rescinded acceptance of an offer over some weird clauses in the equipment agreement this past Tuesday. Why? Because tools are where it all starts and I believe we shouldn't compromise over them. Automattic seems like a sweet role where I can work on tools that enable people!

Why would you hire me?

Because I crave autonomy, do creative work, and have a background of disrupting the norm with something solves the root issue. Ow yeah, and in a recent interview my Javascript skills were deemed "Godlike."

I would love to chat more and make my case for why we should work together!

Josh
